

comment@boardmantohemingway.com

---

From: EnviroLytical - B2H <info@envirolytical.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 12, 2015 4:53 PM
To: comment@boardmantohemingway.com
Subject: New Communication: The planners need to go back to the drawing board with the plan for the Boardman to Hemingway Transmission Line! The amount of private land that they plan to run it through currently is unacceptable!

Karen Ford <boisedaisy@hotmail.com>

<https://el2.envirolytical.com/communication/view/102930>

The planners need to go back to the drawing board with the plan for the Boardman to Hemingway Transmission Line! The amount of private land that they plan to run it through currently is unacceptable! Many people who make their living on that land will be negatively affected by this huge line running through their property. They were not made part of the conversation for this project, never contacted, or talked to about it. This property may seem barren to many people, but it's farm land in many cases and homesites as well. My friends, the Bailey's, will have the line running right by their house where they are raising a 2nd generation of their family while running 3 businesses that rely on that land. People who have land out there are there because it's peaceful and beautiful. This transmission line will ruin all of that and without their consent. It's their PRIVATE land and they deserve to decide what gets built on it.

There are other ways to run the line that would have less negative impact on the people of Eastern Oregon. Please look at the other routes that are available and come up with a better solution! Try to think how you would feel with this gigantic transmission line running right through your front yard, because that's exactly what this route does to other people!