This project has gone on for so many years and protests of all kinds continue, including mine earlier. Oregon continues to go green and save water and energy. California is in drought. They will be looking for water. Idaho and Oregon will continue to need more water and our southern counties are in drought. Idaho has been way behind in renewables and barely promoting anything to conserve.

The whole movement is towards solar, etc. all over the nation and we are opposed to an antiquated system's line being run through Oregon along pristine mountains, lakes and eagles nest.

When Idaho takes advantage of all that hot sun down there and puts solar on all the tract houses, then and only then can I support a serious negative impact to Oregon to bring more power for more growth without planning. They continue to require in so many neighborhood covenants, abundant lawns and landscaping requiring power and water. Silly.....

Please take care of our way of life and encourage others to step up to conservation and long term planning. Thanks, Maxine Hines 701 D Ave. La Grande, Or. 97850
